In 2011, Nick Tandy took home the title in the Porsche Carrera Cup Germany. In 2012, he won the prestigious Porsche Cup as the most successful driver worldwide in a 911. In 2013, the avid golfer joined the circle of Porsche works drivers. Successes in long-distance events quickly followed: In the first year he won Petit Le Mans in the USA. The next highlight in the 911 RSR was a class victory in the 24 Hours of Daytona in 2014. When Porsche gave some of their GT drivers the opportunity to test the 919, he gave a convincing performance. Overall victory at the Sarthe followed. Spurred on by sensational Le Mans victory, in 2015 he managed yet another major achievement: In the most adverse weather conditions and up against stronger prototypes, he scored the first overall victory for Porsche in at Petit Le Mans in the 911 RSR. Tandy enjoyed a successful 2018 season with wins at the long-distance classics at Sebring, the Nürburgring and Road Atlanta.
