Sven Müller gave his debut as a Porsche works driver in 2017. However, he came of age as a race driver in the 2016 season. As a Porsche Junior, he not only took home the international Porsche Mobil 1 Supercup run as support to the Formula 1 races, but also the Porsche Carrera Cup Deutschland title. Thanks to nine wins in the one-make race series and 15 podium places in one season as well as an impressive performance at the Dubai 24-hour race culminating in a class victory, there couldn't have been a more convincing argument to be promoted to the circle of Porsche works drivers. In his downtime away from the hustle and bustle of motor racing he loves to go fishing. In 2018, a dream came true for Müller with his first outing at the 24 Hours of Le Mans. He also contested the Japanese Super GT the same year.
